Status of Case

A new examiner has taken over prosecution of this case.

As a preliminary matter the new examiner has reviewed the file, including applicant's latest response. The examiner is persuaded by the arguments presented therein; accordingly, all previous rejections are hereby withdrawn.

The new examiner plans to begin prosecution de novo. In preparation therefor, the following restriction requirement is issued.

Restriction Requirement

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Group I, claim(s) 8-10, 13-17, 20 and 21 drawn to suspensions of particulate hydroxyapatite adsorbate particles and toothpastes containing same.

Group II, claim(s) 11, 12, 18, 19, drawn to methods for forming suspensions of hydroxyapatite adsorbate particles, comprising forming particulate hydroxyapatite by in situ precipitation in the presence of surfactants or protective colloids.

PCT Rule 13.2 states:

Where a group of inventions is claimed in one and the same international application, the requirement of unity of invention referred to in Rule 13.1 shall be fulfilled only when there is a technical relationship among those inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features. The expression "special technical features" shall mean those technical features that define a contribution which each of the claimed inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art.

The common technical feature linking Groups I and II is hydroxyapatite having a nanoparticulate size, and having adsorbed thereon a surfactant or protective colloid. USP 5,030,474 demonstrates that nanoparticulate hydroxyapatite adsorbates can be prepared by an entirely different method than that of Group II, however, i.e., by surface treating hydroxyapatite particles previously prepared by a dry process. See the passage bridging column 2, line 63 to column 3, line 45. Therefore, the common technical feature of Groups I and II does constitute a special technical feature as defined by PCT Rule 13.2, as it does not define a contribution over the prior art. The special technical feature of Group II thus appears to be a method step in which nanoparticulate hydroxyapatite is precipitated from solution in the presence of a surfactant or protective colloid. Since Group I does not require this special technical feature, Groups I and II are not so linked by the use of a corresponding special technical feature as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Rejoinder Practice Reminder

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained.

Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Election is Required

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.
